“Years of the Maritime Continent (YMC)”
in the Special Edition/Collection of Journal of the Meteorological Society of Japan (JMSJ)
and
Scientific Online Letters on the Atmosphere (SOLA)

The Years of the Maritime Continent or YMC is a multi-national and a multi-year effort, which aims at improving our understanding and prediction skill of the weather-climate systems over the Maritime Continent (MC) as well as its global impact. Its field campaign phase has been started since July 2017 and is scheduled to continue until early 2020. During this campaign period, several intensive observations have been/will be conducted and those datasets are available for not only actual participants but also general scientific community. Its first dataset has been released from February 2019 from YMC web site at <http://www.jamstec.go.jp/ymc/>. By considering this opportunity, this special edition solicits to submit a paper that can be produced using those YMC datasets as well as numerical and theoretical studies related to this field campaign.

<< About Submission >>

Manuscript submission can be made only online from;

JMSJ: <https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/jmsj>
